CONSULTATION

Title: FEMA Training

Date: November 11, 2008

Contact: Mark Wade Lieu, Academic Senate for California Community Colleges

Background

Beginning in July 2008, colleges received information from the System Office concerning disaster preparedness and FEMA training. Faculty at several colleges have expressed confusion about the level of training required for faculty and staff to the Academic Senate. Given the broad nature of the issue, the Academic Senate Executive Committee asked that the topic be brought to Consultation Council.

Issue

It would be beneficial to provide clarification as to what level of FEMA training is required for employees of California community colleges and how best can this training be provided.
