June 17, 2020 – COVID-19 Update No. 62

During the COVID-19 pandemic, and ahead of the U.S. Supreme Court ruling on DACA, San Bernardino Community College District representative Mariana Lopez advises families across Riverside and San Bernardino counties through virtual meetings.

The COVID-19 Special Update now publishes on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

STATE AND NATIONAL GUIDANCE/EXECUTIVE ORDERS/NEWS

A federal judge today barred the U.S. Department of Education’s initial rules restricting as many as 800,000 students from being able to receive CARES Act emergency assistance. Judge Yvonne Gonzalez Rogers’ ruling applies only to California’s community college students, though this is the second such ruling in the past week. California Community Colleges Chancellor Eloy Ortiz Oakley issued this statement in response to today’s preliminary injunction.

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) last week announced the release of $2.96 billion in Emergency Solutions Grants to support homeless Americans and individuals at risk of becoming homeless due to the impact of COVID-19. Under the CARES Act, this funding can be used to prevent homelessness and provide essential services to people experiencing homelessness including childcare, education services, employment assistance, outpatient health services, legal services, mental health services, substance abuse treatment services and transportation. View allocation amounts here.

Gov. Gavin Newsom on Tuesday signed an executive order addressing a variety of issues in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Among other actions, the order extends waivers temporarily broadening the capability of counties to enroll persons into the California Work Opportunity and Responsibility to Kids (CalWORKs) program, allowing for self-attestation of pregnancy and conditions of eligibility, and waiving in-person identification requirements.

Members of Gov. Newsom’s Task Force on Business and Jobs Recovery late Monday issued an open letter calling out the insidious effects of structural racism across society and urging business and civic leaders to take a stand against injustice as the state and nation works to rebuild. The letter outlines how people of color are disproportionately impacted by the COVID-19 pandemic; unemployment; and racism in policing, and highlights the income gaps across ethnicity, gender and ability that persist in California.

You can find the latest information on how the state is responding to the pandemic on California’s COVID-19 website.

The Chronicle of Higher Education is compiling a list of colleges’ plans for reopening this fall. Of the nearly 1,000 colleges on the list so far, including California community colleges, about 65% are planning to resume classes in-person.

SYSTEM GUIDANCE/NEWS

The Chancellor’s Office is committed to keeping everyone informed during this uncertain time. We encourage administrators, faculty, staff and students to regularly check the Chancellor’s Office COVID-19 resource page for ongoing executive orders, guidance memos and announcements. Current and prospective students can also get connected with their local college to find out specific resources and support services available as well as enroll in their local community college.

College practitioners can find past COVID-19 Weekly Webinar recordings and other COVID-19 information within the Vision Resource Center. Create an account or log in. STUDENT SUPPORTS
Gen Zers are financially struggling during the COVID-19 pandemic, more so than any other age group according to one study. Here are some policies that could help offer them support right now.

We know students are looking for extra support during this trying time. We have compiled a list of mental health support services available to students and we’ll continue to share them on a daily basis.

- If students have Medi-Cal and are in need of mental health services, they can call the number on their health plan membership card, or call their local county mental health line. For help finding what services are covered, call the Medi-Cal Managed Care and Mental Health Office of the Ombudsman at 888-452-8609 Monday through Friday from 8:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.
- If you are concerned about a family in need of food or assistance, or you need resources yourself, call 211, contact your local non-profit Family Resource Center, or apply for public benefits, which may include health care, cash aid, and food and nutrition assistance, through your county’s Social Services or Health and Human Services department.
- Resources, tools, and trainings regarding health, mental health, wellness, basic needs and more designed for California community college students, faculty and staff are available on the California Community Colleges Health & Wellness website. Specific COVID-19 resources are available on the home page.
- Wellness Central is a free online health and wellness resource that is available 24/7 in your space at your pace.
- Each Mind Matters offers resources, tools and activation kits for mental health.
- The California Youth Crisis line runs 24 hours a day, seven days a week: 800-843-5200. The National Suicide Prevention Lifeline provides confidential assistance to anyone in crisis and their loved ones through a live chat and free 24-hour hotline at 800-273-8255. You can also text COURAGE to the Crisis Text Line at 741741.
- Our LGBTQ students can also contact the Trevor Project by calling 1-866-488-7386 or text START to 678678 for 24/7 information. The Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender National Hotline is available from 1:00 – 9:00 p.m. at 1-800-273-8255. Or call or text the Victims of Crime Resource Center at 1-800-842-8467 for help.

HOW TO HELP
The Foundation for California Community Colleges, in partnership with the California Community Colleges, has launched an effort to provide emergency aid, technology, connectivity and other essential supports to students. Click here for more on ways to support students through this campaign.

A preliminary study shows a commonly used steroid reduces risk of death in sickest coronavirus patients.

It is perhaps the biggest mystery surrounding COVID-19: why does it kill some people, and spare others? How scientists are still trying to figure out the wildly variable nature of the virus.

Americans are the unhappiest we’ve been in nearly 50 years, at least according to new research released this week. The survey found more people are reporting feeling isolated or lonely, and more parents are concerned about their children’s future. (Please remember: you’re not alone and help is available 24/7. Find support services here.)
