STATE AND NATIONAL GUIDANCE/EXECUTIVE ORDERS/NEWS

Gov. Gavin Newsom today gave an update on the state's response to the COVID-19 pandemic. (All daily news conferences are streamed live at noon on his Twitter page and the California Governor Facebook page.) You can find more information on California's COVID-19 website.

The governor today submitted his 2020-21 May Revision budget proposal to the Legislature. The proposal aims to close the projected \$54.3 billion budget gap brought on by the COVID-19 pandemic.

In terms of education, the May Revision proposes $44.9 billion in General Fund support for schools and community colleges and $6 billion in additional federal funds to supplement state funding. To address the decline in the constitutionally-required funding for schools and community colleges resulting from the COVID-19 recession, the May Revision proposes to reallocate $2.3 billion in funds previously dedicated to paying down schools' unfunded liability to CalSTRS and CalPERS to instead pay the school employers' retirement contributions. It also proposes a new obligation of 1.5% of state appropriation limit revenues starting in 2021-22 to avoid a permanent decline in school funding that grows to $4.6 billion in additional funding for schools and community colleges by 2023-24. The May Revision does preserve community college free tuition waivers and maintains Cal Grants for college students, including the grants for students with dependent children established last year.

The budget also calls for a 10% pay reduction for state workers, or the equivalent of two furlough days a month. The governor said he and his staff would also take pay cuts.

The Legislature is required to pass a balanced budget by June 15.

Nearly 3 million more people filled for jobless benefits last week, sending the total to 36.5 million Americans that have applied for unemployment over the past eight weeks.

COVID-19 whistleblower Rick Bright today told a House committee the U.S. lacks a plan to produce and fairly distribute a coronavirus vaccine and the nation could face “the darkest winter in modern history” unless leaders act decisively.

Equity-Minded Mathematics Instruction

Thursday, May 21, 2020 from 12:00 - 1:30 p.m.

This webinar will include one or more math instructors from California and Colorado who have worked with CUE on developing pedagogical practices that are critically race conscious. This session will address: (1) traditional vs equity-minded conceptions of the ways in which math is done and thought about, (2) how to draw upon student’s knowledge, (3) noticing racialized patterns in data close to practice (gradebook and attendance mapping, designing homework problems), (4) engaging students conversations that focus on how they are experiencing the online environment.
