STATE AND NATIONAL GUIDANCE/EXECUTIVE ORDERS/NEWS

Gov. Gavin Newsom today gave an update on the state's response to the COVID-19 pandemic. (All daily news conferences are streamed live at noon on his Twitter page and the California Governor Facebook page.) You can find more information on California's COVID-19 website.

The governor today spoke to the grim news that California over the next year faces a \$54.3 billion deficit, the worst budget gap since the Great Recession a decade ago. The projected unemployment rate is 18%. Newsom released the budget memo today ahead of rolling out the May budget revise, due next week. The revenue shortfall means the state's constitutionally required funding level for public schools and community colleges will fall by $18.3 billion. In January, the state was projected to have a $5.6 billion surplus and be able to add to its reserves through July 2021. While acknowledging the sobering numbers, the governor said he believes the state is now in better shape to recover than it was during the Great Recession.

Newsom today also unveiled new rules dictating how quickly California communities and businesses can reopen, and promised more guidance will come on Tuesday.

Nearly 3.2 million workers applied for unemployment last week, bringing the total to roughly 33.5 million people who have filed for jobless benefits over the past seven weeks. The report on job numbers for April is due tomorrow; experts predict it will show U.S. payrolls fell by 22 million jobs last month.
