COVID-19 Update

September 16, 2020 – COVID-19 Update No. 99

Los Angeles Southwest College's Library staff handed out loaner laptops to dozens of students on Friday, September 11, to support them with their fall semester studies. The students will be able to have the laptops for the entire academic year if they are actively enrolled at LASC.

The COVID-19 Special Update publishes on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

STATE AND NATIONAL GUIDANCE/EXECUTIVE ORDERS/NEWS

Gov. Gavin Newsom today gave an update on the COVID-19 pandemic. (The updates are streamed live at noon on Gov. Newsom's Twitter page and the California Governor Facebook page. Find more information on the state's response to the COVID-19 pandemic on California's COVID-19 website.

Among the headlines from today's update:

Gov. Newsom says California is turning a corner in the coronavirus pandemic but acknowledged the state could see a spike in new cases from the Labor Day weekend.

California now has 760,013 confirmed cases of COVID-19, resulting in 14,451 deaths. The number of COVID-related deaths increased by 0.5 percent from Sunday's total of 14,385. The state has performed 12.9 million tests; the rate of positive tests has decreased to 3.6% over both the past seven and 14-days.

The number of COVID-19 patients hospitalized across California, and the number of COVID-19 patients in the ICU, both dropped 22% in the last 14 days.

Three counties – Marin, Inyo and Tehama – were able to move out of the highest, most restrictive Purple monitoring tier and into the Red tier. California Health and Human Services Director Dr. Mark Ghaly said more counties are expected to drop into lower tiers in the next few weeks, which could mean reopening indoor dining, gyms, movie theaters and religious services.

"I might even go so far as to say that this face mask is more guaranteed to protect me against COVID than when I take a COVID vaccine." Strong words from Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Director Robert Redfield, who testified today that a vaccine for COVID-19 is not likely to be widely available until next spring or summer. Assuming a safe and effective shot is developed, federal health agencies said they have created a sweeping plan to make vaccines for COVID-19 available for free to all Americans.

President Trump today called on congressional Republicans to support a massive economic relief bill with “much higher numbers” and stimulus payments for Americans, abruptly proposing an entirely different plan than what the Senate GOP sought to advance in recent days.

SYSTEM GUIDANCE/NEWS

The Chancellor's Office is committed to keeping everyone informed during this uncertain time. We encourage administrators, faculty, staff and students to regularly check the Chancellor's Office COVID-19 resource page and the Chancellor's Office Communications to Colleges section for ongoing executive orders, guidance memos and announcements. Current and prospective students can also get connected with their local college to find out specific resources and support services available as well as enroll in their local community college.

Gov. Newsom today announced the first round of awards for Homekey, California's $600 million program to purchase and rehabilitate housing for people experiencing or at risk of experiencing homelessness. The City of El Centro has been awarded $3 million to build 13 tiny home duplexes in collaboration with Imperial Valley College and the Imperial Valley College Foundation. The duplexes will house 26 homeless students who identify as former foster youth.

BEST PRACTICES

College practitioners will be able to find a recording of today's Chancellor's Office System Webinar on the Vision Resource Center.

*We invite you to join us for the biweekly webinars as the Chancellor's Office turns its focus from providing COVID-19 related updates, toward tools and resources to make progress on the Vision for Success. Our webinars will continue to feature campus leaders and best practices from colleges and districts. The next webinar is scheduled for Wednesday, October 14 from 9:00 – 10:00 a.m.

The CVC-OEI has seats remaining in upcoming sessions of its Online Teaching & Design course. This 12-week course shows participants how to create the course they've always dreamed of teaching. You'll explore online learning theory, approaches to online course design and strategies for supporting student success. Sessions begin on September 21 and September 28. To learn more and register: visit <https://catalog.onlinenetworkofeducators.org/>.

Save the date for the next Chancellor's Office and POST forum, Evidence-Based Policing: Fundamentals and Concepts. In this forum, a panel of experts will define this promising methodology and explain how it can better equip policymakers, from elected and police chiefs to front-line supervisors and rank-and-file officers, to make strategic and tactical decisions about a range of issues, from police agency management to culture, from training to the deployment of police resources, and from crime prevention to community interactions. The forum is Tuesday, September 29 from 2:30 – 4:00 p.m.
