INFORMATIVE DIGEST

The Chancellor's Office proposes changes to the California Code of Regulations, title 5, to clarify that correspondence courses continue to be eligible for apportionment, and to correct an ambiguity created by amendments to title 5 promulgated in March 2019.

On March 17, 2019, title 5 changes to section 55204 eliminated “correspondence” as method of distance education instruction to align with the federal definition of distance education. Under federal regulations, a “correspondence course” is not considered “distance education.” The elimination of the term “correspondence” from the distance education provisions in title 5 created confusion regarding the eligibility of correspondence courses for apportionment. The proposed title 5 changes will ensure these courses will continue to be eligible for apportionment.

Until 2015, correspondence courses were the primary source of higher education for incarcerated students. The Chancellor’s Office now focuses more on face-to-face education for this population, with enrollment of 11,864 in face-to-face courses in fall 2019. However, correspondence courses are still in demand, with enrollment of 7,931 in fall 2019. These courses continue to provide an alternative form of education that face-to-face programs cannot offer.

The Chancellor’s Office proposes amending title 5, chapter 9, subchapter 1, to clarify that correspondence courses are eligible for apportionment. This will ensure the colleges that currently provide these correspondence courses will continue to receive funding.

ESTIMATED COST OR SAVINGS OF PROPOSED AMENDMENTS

The estimated cost or savings of the proposed amendments are anticipated to be as follows:

Mandate on local agencies or community college districts: None.

Cost or savings to state agencies: None.

Costs to local agencies or community college districts for which reimbursement would be required pursuant to part 7 (commencing with section 17500) of division 4 title 2 of the Government Code: None.

Other non-discretionary cost or savings imposed on community college districts: None.

Cost or savings in federal funding to state agencies: None.
