ADMINISTRATION UPDATE

On June 18th, President Biden announced an executive action allowing undocumented individuals married to U.S. citizens to obtain lawful permanent residence without having to depart from the U.S. while they await the processing of their case. Undocumented individuals must meet certain requirements to be eligible. They must have continuously been present in the United States for at least 10 years as of June 17, 2024 and have a legally valid marriage to a U.S. citizen as of June 17, 2024, among other requirements \(https://www.dhs.gov/news/2024/06/17/fact-sheet-dhs-announces-new-process-promote-unity-and-stability-families\).

On Monday, August 26th, a federal judge in the Eastern District Court of Texas temporarily blocked the administration from processing new program applications by issuing an administrative stay for the program through September 9. On September 5, the District Court extended its administrative stay through September 23 from September 9. While the administrative stay is in place, program applicants can continue to submit applications to U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS); however, the agency will be prohibited from approving the applications during the stay period.

In addition, the June 18th executive action will more efficiently facilitate certain employment-based nonimmigrant visas for some individuals, including DACA recipients and other undocumented individuals who have graduated from a U.S. higher education institution.
