BACKGROUND ON THE K12 STRONG WORKFORCE PROGRAM

In 2016, the California Legislature approved the Strong Workforce Program (SWP), budgeting an ongoing $248 million for the state's community colleges to enhance and expand career technical education (CTE) and workforce training to prepare students for high-wage employment in industries that meet regional labor market needs. Commencing with the 2018–19 fiscal year, an additional $150 million was allocated on an annual and ongoing basis to K-12 local education agencies (LEAs) through the K12 Strong Workforce Program (K12 SWP) to create, support, or expand high-quality CTE at the K-12 level.
