If you have more similarly situated students my doors are ALWAYS OPEN.   I cannot NEVER have too many students, on the contrary, even with a full class I NEVER have enough students."

With the creation of the Strong Workforce Program, there is an increased focus on career education and noncredit education. Furthermore, the roll-out of the first Integrated Plan for Student Services Support Program (SSSP) (credit and noncredit), Basic Skills, and Student Equity served to encourage collaboration across our colleges and a bridging of programs to better serve all of the students in our community college system.

The ASCCC Career and Noncredit Education Institute is the first ASCCC event to bring faculty together from these areas to collaborate on a statewide level on how best to integrate the services, practices and instruction of these areas. Presentations will cover topics in areas such as career education, noncredit education, counseling and student services, Adult Education Block Grant (AEBG), and apprenticeship.

Colleges are encouraged to send teams of practitioners and leaders to include career education faculty, noncredit faculty, counselors, senate presidents, and faculty and administrative leaders involved in career education, noncredit education, and AEBG. For questions related to the program, please contact info@asccc.org.
